Using Natural Pigments

May 6

All sorts of colors can be found in nature if you just look closely. Families are invited to come learn about these natural pigments and how they can be used as art. After learning about where to find these pigments, use them to create a piece of art for your home! This workshop is intended for families or small groups to create a collaborative art project together and gain the knowledge to continue to experiment with natural pigments at home.

Metals

August 5

Come learn about various Native American and Colonial uses of metals. From beads to pie cabinets, metals have had practical and artistic uses for thousands of years. Learn how to work with metals to create personal art for your home or as gifts! This workshop is intended for families or small groups to create a collaborative art project together and gain the knowledge to continue to experiment metal materials at home.

Paper

October 7

Paper has been an important resource for recording history for thousands of years. Come learn about how paper is made and use recycled paper to create your very own handmade paper. From paper-folding to rolling paper to make beads, this workshop will explore all the creative ways you can make pieces of art from paper! This workshop is intended for families or small groups to create a collaborative art project together and gain the knowledge to continue to experiment with the materials at home.
